Window glass cut to any size at Lange & Schmitt's.

H. J. Darling was a passenger for California last night.

Col. A. C. May returned from California yesterday morning.

Wm. Van Buren returned from Chicago yesterday morning.

Mrs. Jane Luke was a passenger for Frankton yesterday morning.

Mrs. M. Simpson of Virginia is a delegate to the Woman's Convention.

Judge Linn was occupied yesterday in the trial of a couple of civil cases.

Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Blossom of Genoa are attending the Convention.

J. C. Stubbs and J. M. Wilson were westward bound passengers last night.

Mrs. L. J. Flint is in town as a delegate from Winnemucca to the Equal Suffrage Convention.

T. C. Harper of Glenbrook and R. W. Russell of Pyramid were guests at the Palace last night.

Governor Jones appeared on the streets of Carson yesterday for the first time since his illness.

J. M. Wilson, President of the Sather Banking Co. of San Francisco, spent yesterday in Reno, the guest of Dr. Stubbs.

Charlie Lake will take your Christmas orders for books of poems, albums, scrap books, etc. He will get anything wanted in his line.

Miss Sweetman of Auburn, who has been a guest of Miss Ione Gould for some weeks, returned to California yesterday morning.

Rev. N. L. Freeman left for Sacramento last evening to attend the Pacific Baptist Association which convenes at Sacramento to-day.

J. D. Coughlin, Chewacan, Oregon; L. W. Brubeck, Amodeo, and A. P. Mathews, San Francisco, arrived on the N-C-O. last evening.

J. C. Stubbs of the S.P.R.R.Co. spent the day yesterday visiting his brother, Dr. Stubbs of the University. The latter entertained a party at luncheon at the Riverside Hotel.

Professor Thurtell and the Junior Class in surveying at the University were out last night taking observations for the purpose of establishing a north and south line by the stars.

Dr. T. J. Morgan, Commissioner of Indian Affairs during President Harrison's Administration, and his wife spent the day here yesterday, the guests of Dr. W. A. Phillips.

The Russians deny the existence of a secret treaty with China by which they were to have extraordinary concessions, and say that no Russian war ships have been ordered to Port Arthur.

Haverley's Minstrels will appear here on Wednesday, November 6th. It is said to be the finest minstrel combination on the road. Full particulars will be announced in a day or two.

Farmers, attention! Lange & Schmitt having purchased the stock of E. B. Rahl, Carson, can sell you mowing machines and rake extras, and plows etc., lower than anyone in the State.

For the best free lunch in town call at H. J. Thyes. Hot home-made family soup to-day. There will be enough for all; call and try it. All the latest fancy drinks, Martini and Manhattan cocktails, etc.

A man went into a so-called first-class saloon yesterday and called for a Manhattan cocktail, but the "Manhattan" time to make it. Not so at Thyes for McJerney not only takes the time but knows how.

The Managers of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight seem intent on having the contest come off at Hot Springs, Arkansas, and Governor Clark and Attorney-General Kinsworthy seem determined that it shall not. A warrant is said to have been issued for Corbett's arrest and that the pugilist will not enter the State.

A. O. C. W. Entertainment.

The members of Nevada Lodge No. 5, A. O. U. W. gave a social at their hall last evening, it being the anniversary of the instituting of the lodge. Master Workman McKee announced the program, followed by music by Hoskins' band. Hon. T. V. Julien made a short address on the good of the order. Fredrick's orchestra played a selection, then followed musical and literary exercises. Hon. S. Summerfield delivered an address on the history, purposes and what had been accomplished by the organization. There was a large audience present and a pleasant evening was enjoyed by all.

How to Deal With Offenders.

Rev. Myron W. Reed of Denver advises heroic measures for dealing with election frauds. He urges that two or three hundred men be armed on election day to watch the polls and when anyone was detected fraudulently voting that he be shot down on the spot. He scored the people as lacking the spirit which the early settlers displayed in dealing with offenders of the law, and closed with the remark: "That's the kind of a saint I am."

EQUAL SUFFRAGE MEETING.

THE WOMEN ORGANIZE A STATE LEAGUE.

They Adopt a Constitution and Transact Other Business.

Pursuant to announcement quite an assemblage gathered at McKissick's Opera House yesterday afternoon to organize a State League of Equal Suffrage. The entrance to the Opera House had been decorated with bunting and "Old Glory" floated from the flag pole on top of the building. The stage was nicely set and prettily decorated. A painting of the great seal of the State occupied a prominent position at the front of the stage, while banners bearing these mottoes were hung at the rear: "Taxation without representation is tyranny. Women are taxed," "Help these women," "Under God the people rule. Are women people?" "We are seven (E. S. A.) Aliens, paupers, lunatics, minors, criminals, idiots, women."

Mrs. P. Stanton Marshal, President of the local organization, called the convention to order. Rev. Thos. Magill conducted the devotional exercises. Mrs. D. E. Boyd was then chosen Temporary Chairman and Mrs. P. Stanton Marshal as Temporary Secretary.

Committees were now appointed on organization as follows:

Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Rinckle and Mrs. Webster on Enrollment.

Mrs. Elda A. Orr and Mrs. Blossom of Genoa on Credentials.

At this point Mrs. Emma Smith DeVoe in a few words explained the purposes of the organization, the best way to proceed and what could be accomplished in the future by concerted action and energy by the woman suffragists of Nevada.

The constitution of the association was read, and after some discussion and slight changes was adopted.

This closed the afternoon session.

EVENING SESSION.

At the evening session the exercises were opened by a chorus of some twenty young people singing a patriotic air, followed by devotional exercises by Dr. Stubbs.

Mrs. Wentworth of Reno was then introduced and made the following address of welcome:

Mrs. President, and Friends of E. S. A.:—In the name of our town and the surrounding community, I have the honor to cordially welcome you to the Mass Convention assembled for the purpose of effectually furthering the enfranchisement of the women of Nevada.

The value of your deliberations largely depend upon the wisdom of your counsels, the unanimity of your conclusions and the temperate prudence of action to secure those rights which thus far have been withheld by man, probably not so much from jealous motives as thoughtless indifference, or the mistaken belief that practical politics and the graces of womanhood are incompatible.

It is especially noticeable that in all times, either ancient or modern, the freer a people have been the more jealous has mankind been of any attempt to limit their rights of suffrage, and it has been equally prominent that the more ignorant and enslaved a people have been the more different has been aspirations for a voice in the affairs of State and Government.

In the United States the question of Woman Suffrage has become one of the greatest political questions confronting the people. It is admitted that it is no longer a mere theory or experiment, but a practicable solution of many of the evils which affect the body politic.

Wyoming is an unanswerable argument to every contention that can be advanced against common rights in shaping the affairs of government. Nevada has proposed an amendment to her laws which, if adopted, will obliterate this distinction, and will dignify woman by making her a factor of the Government. This amendment must yet be adopted by the next Legislature and then ratified by a majority of the people.

As I understand it, such a consummation will be the greatest object of this Convention, and to accomplish it we should make every exertion, and rest not, until our aspirations have become a fixed result, and Nevada, though a small star in the galaxy of the Union, will excel in lustre her more pretentious sisters by pioneering them to the goal of absolute equality.

We have every reason to feel encouraged by the prospects which confront us. Those noble women, Miss Anthony and Miss Shaw have by their visit to the Pacific Coast aroused a wave of enthusiasm which will not be still until woman stands by the side of man, in political equality, where the God of all life intended she should stand. What William Lloyd Garrison, Wendell Phillips and Joshua Giddings were to a race of bonds-men, so are Miss Anthony and Miss Shaw and their colleagues to the women of America. Their visit to us must result in more good than has been anticipated. Its influences will extend and swell until the women of the west are welcomed to every right accorded to men and all will be the better and wiser therefrom.

A gleeful club then favored the audience with a selection.

Mrs. Keio, who was on the program yesterday.

for a response, not being present, Mrs. Blossom of Genoa was called upon and responded as follows:

"Mrs. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:—Each delegate from a local club must have been impressed by the cordial greeting given them by the reception committee at the Reno depot, and still further impressed and pleased upon meeting the generous men and women who have thrown open to us their homes and given us their best and most comfortable rooms thus; co-operating with us in this great work for in winter capacity we serve a cause we do something to advance it. The tasteful and beautiful decorations of this hall speaks volumes for the patriotism of the women of Reno and we accept it as a grateful tribute to the outside delegates here assembled. In behalf of the several delegates and representative fellow workers in and from various parts of our State I tender you our hearty appreciation and thanks and feel sure that each of us will carry away the pleasantest of memories of this meeting and our visit to Reno, and while they will aid and cheer us until we shall have achieved the object for which we are working, they will also be treasured among the brightest incidents of our lives."

After Mrs. Blossom's address the gleeful club rendered a selection and Miss Mary Cowan, a bright little girl of Carson, recited a poem, written by her grandmother and which was appropriate to the occasion. She gave the recitation with a vim and was enthusiastically applauded. (The Journal regrets that it cannot publish the poem, but lack of space prevents it in this issue.)

Mrs. Emma Smith DeVoe was introduced. Mrs. DeVoe is a lady of fine presence, has an easy manner before an audience, and a good voice.

She spoke earnestly and in some parts of her address grew eloquent on the rights that should be accorded to women and of which they were denied by a foolish sentimentality or a prejudice that had no foundation. Much of her address was on the same line as the address delivered here sometime ago by Rev. Anna Shaw. Her reasoning was good and her arguments unanswerable. She made many good points and was frequently applauded.

The convention will conclude its labors to-day. A fair representation of delegates are in attendance from various points in the State and more were expected to arrive last evening and this morning.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to be present and participate in the deliberations of the association.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

Editor Hummel Confident That It Will be Held in San Francisco.

N. A. Hummel of the Wadsworth Dispatch, who attended the California Press Association meeting as a representative of the Nevada Press, returned yesterday morning. He is confident the Republican National Convention will be held in San Francisco. The members of the press were all in favor of it. The city papers, and some of the country papers too, contributed to a fund to pay the expenses of the Convention. Nearly every prominent citizen of San Francisco is subscribing to the fund and there will be no trouble in raising $100,000 for the Convention. It is claimed that the Convention will be the best advertisement possible for the Pacific Coast. Thousands of the brightest men in the United States, and many of the wealthiest, would attend it, and as a special rate of perhaps a cent a mile would be given by railroads from Chicago west, many not particularly interested in the Convention would avail themselves of the opportunity to come west and see the country. No doubt some of the visitors would invest in mining, agricultural or manufacturing enterprises and in that way the whole western country would be benefited.

WILLIAMS DEAD.

He is Killed by the Accidental Discharge of His Gun.

Dr. P. T. Phillips returned from Dry Valley yesterday afternoon, having been called to attend Jos. Williams, who was accidentally shot the day before. Dr. Phillips reached Dry Valley about 9 o'clock in the evening and found that Williams had died four hours earlier.

The particulars of the accident are as follows: Williams stood talking with a friend and leaning on his shotgun, the stock of which had been broken and was wired together. He had his hand over the muzzle of the gun and his weight caused the wiring to give way allowing the hammers to strike the ground, causing it to discharge. The charge of shot passed through his hand, striking him in the neck under the chin and passed up into his head. Owing to the serious nature of the wound it is not probable that he could have been saved had he received medical aid immediately after the accident. The deceased has no relatives in this country, and Public Administrator J. V. Peers will take charge of his estate, which consists of a ranch, stock, hay and personal effects.

Mr. Peers went out after the remains yesterday.

HORR BECOMING ENLIGHTENED.

The Populists Have Shown Him the Error of His Ways and He is Profiting Thereby.

Ed. JOURNAL—In the New York Weekly Tribune of October 23d R. G. Horr makes some radical statements, which if made by a Populist would be branded as rank heresy. Here is one of them:

"For example take the sweat shops in the large cities of the United States, where poor women are doing work at wages that border upon starvation prices. That there are large numbers of such instances seems to be well attested. Men in their greed for gain take advantage of the necessities of helpless persons and secure their constant and laborious services for the merest pittance."

Mr. Editor, if Horr continues to write such epistles as the foregoing the bondholders will repudiate him and classify him as one of the most vicious of the calamity howlers. Mr. Horr also seems to be undergoing a radical change in regard to the tariff, and in the same article he uses the following language:

"The wages paid in Great Britain are higher than those paid in any European country. Free traders are in the habit of asserting that it is on account of her free trade laws and they are constantly asking, Why do not the high tariff laws of France and Germany drive up wages in those countries as you protectionists contend such laws have done here in the United States? In the first place protectionists do not claim that a high tariff drives up wages in this or any other country. What they do claim is this, wages are higher in the United States than in any other country on the face of the globe. They are higher on account of higher civilization."

Mr. Editor, you are doubtless surprised at the foregoing statement made by Mr. Horr, who has been considered the champion protectionist in the United States. I have read a great many articles written by Mr. Horr on the tariff, but this is the first time that he has denied that the tariff raised wages. It begins to look as if R. G. Horr had been partially hypnotized by a Populist. The Tribune will have to revise his articles in the future before they are published, or the bondholders and protectionists will withdraw their support.

LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

Happenings Here, There and Every-where.

Hailey, Idaho, boasts that she will have a population of 10,000 before the close of 1895.

San Francisco attorneys are on the Comstock taking depositions of the mining superintendents, to be introduced in the Hale and Norcross case.—Tribune.

The diamond ring offered by the San Francisco Report for the most popular lady engaged in legitimate employment in that city was awarded to Miss Nora Quinlan, formerly of Virginia City.

A. L. Confer, the Minneapolis sheep buyer, has purchased several thousand head of mutton sheep in Humboldt county. The Silver State says the sheep will be shipped to the Chicago market.

Processes are being served by United States officers upon the Jackson Hole settlers who killed and wounded Banock Indians during the trouble of July last. The offenders number twenty-seven and include the Constable and Justice of the Peace of the district.

The census of the City of Mexico shows 344,377 inhabitants and in the immediate suburbs 146,737, making nearly half a million. Complaint has been raised in the press that the enumeration is not well taken, and the real population of the city is fully 400,000.

The stone quarry on the Carson river opposite the Morrises mill is now a scene of great activity. The Appeal says there are about fifty men employed about the works, and there will be more soon. The V. & T. railroad has put in two switches to facilitate work, and will put in another. One immense steam crane has been put up for handling the blocks of stone and another will soon be put in position.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gundermar, of Diamondide, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at River Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store. Regular size, 50 cts. and $1.

A COLORADO STORY.

WHY THE RIVER AT TRINIDAD BEARS
THREE NAMES.

A Queer Kink in Nomenclature Explained
by a Rocky Mountain Editor—The Romance of the Lost Mexican Soldiers Who Were Banned For St. Augustine.

"Some queer kinks in nomenclature are discoverable in this country of cure," said Colonel William Stapleton of Trinidad, Colo. "Running right through the town of Trinidad, in which I live, is a little river, which familiarly and indiscriminately does its muddy, flowing business under three names. It is called variously the Las Animas, the Purgatorio and the Picket Wire. The names came about in this way:

"Santa Fe claims to be and is about the same age as St. Augustine, Fla.
Both towns are considerably over 800
years old, although I forget the exact date of their settlement.

"Back in the middle of the sixteenth century the Spaniards at Santa Fe made up a military detachment to go overland to St. Augustine. The old dons didn't know anything of the country which lay between. All they were posted on was the distance and the general direction, as they knew the latitude and longitude of both places. Rather late in the fall some 700 of them, steel clad soldiers, camp followers, baggage train and women, pushed in through the Raton pass over the trail now followed by the Santa Fe railroad, and at the beginning of winter made a camp at what is now the site of Trinidad, which sits fairly in the mouth of the Raton canyon, looking out on the plains.

"There they were on the very threshold of the Rockies. To the east of them, over which their course must trend, lay an utter waste of plains, apparently without limit. All that winter the Spaniards camped in the mouth of the Raton canyon. With wine, vomit and song they put in a hilarious time, and probably had as much fun as they ever had before or since. Winters are not rigorous and spring comes early in the vicinity of Trinidad.

"With the first coming of the early grass the adventurers banished their armor, fitted up their horses and got ready to move. The camp followers, the women and the extra baggage they sent back to Santa Fe. When last seen, the party banned for St. Augustine, numbering several hundreds, were marching down the valley of the little river by which they had camped.

"That was the last ever heard of them.
Not a feather ever floated back to tell the story of their fate. With the last flap of the last banner and the latest sun plint on the rearmost steel cap they disappeared from the earth. To this day no one is able to make a suggestion even as to what became of them, except that it is supposed they were butchered
by the Indians.

"Fifty years ago there was an old Comanche chief named Iron Shirt, because of a rusty old shirt of chain mail which he wore, but neither he nor any of the other Comanches knew anything of the origin of the garment nor where it came from. It had been in the tribe further back than the short Comanche memory could reach. Many have supposed that it was a relic of the Spanish expedition of three centuries ago, which had apparently marched off the earth that far-away spring day in the month of the Raton canyon.

"But now for the kink in nomenclature
I was thinking of. The disappearance of these Spanish soldiers seemed so curious and witchlike that it made a profound impression on the superstitious people they had left behind. They named the little river Rio de Las Animas, meaning the River of the Lost Souls, and it is supposed to hold the story of the expedition's dark fate and repeat it to itself in the river language, which the Mexicans do not pretend to understand.

"When the French fur traders under Sublette and St. Vrain came trapping in those waters from St. Louis, in a French effort at translation they made out that the River of the Lost Souls must mean the Purgatorio river, and so gave the river its translated name of Purgatorio.

"Later, when the American bull
whacker marched through on his way to Santa Fe, he accepted the French name, but called it the Picket Wire.
To this day the river wears all three titles, as the reader would soon learn by turning to the Trinidad newspapers, where he would find cattle brands advertised as having their ranges variously on the Las Animas, the Purgatorio and the Picket Wire.

"Every man picks out his name for himself, but they all mean the same river. It isn't much of a river either, only about 20 feet wide at Trinidad.
The Mexicans, however, loyally stick to the name of Rio de Las Animas, and Mexican mothers tell their children of the soldiers who, hundreds of years ago, marched from there and were never heard of again."—Washington Star.

Just Like a Woman.
A young and well dressed woman entered Charing Cross telegraph office the other day and wrote out a dispatch to be sent to Manchester. She read it over, reflected for a moment, and then dropped it on the floor and wrote a second. This she also threw away, but was satisfied with the third and sent it off.
The three telegrams read:

First—"Never let me hear from you again."
Second—"No one expects you to return."
Third—"Come home, dearest. All is forgotten."—Pearson's Weekly.
